LOCATION OF THE COMPETITION SITE

The public airfield of Saarlouis-DUEREN (ICAO-designator: EDRJ) is located 10 km west of the city of Saarlouis, which has approx. 50.000 citizens and is located at the western border of Germany (very close to France and Luxemburg).

The city is easily accessible via two highways ("Autobahn") A 8 and A 620 and by train as well.

The dropzone elevation is 1.120 ft (= 341 m) MSL. It has a concrete runway of 800 m and separate taxiways. The operating time is daily from 08:00 am to 09:00 pm. During the competition there will be no other traffic than the dropping aircraft and skydivers.

There are full time dropzone facilities available, including a full time rigging shop. The local club has hosted the German Nationals 2009 in all skydiving disciplines and has accomplished more than 11.000 jumps during the 2010 season.

Transport service will be provided for initial access from the following airports or train-stations to the dropzone or hotels. Please note and register for the transport-service in advance on the attachment to the official entry form!!

Costs will be 30,- € each per transport for small groups (one to three persons) and 25,- € each for larger groups (four to seven persons). Depending on arrival times it is possible, that several delegations will be grouped together; this may cause some waiting at the airport.

Details of access:
